U.S. Aid to Viet Nam Tops $3 Billion

By LEWIS GULICK
WASHINGTON (AP)—Cumulative U.S. aid to South Viet Nam has topped $3 billion in a program no markedly different from any other U.S. aid effort around the world.

The difference stems from its close link with the campaign to stamp out Communist guerrillas. It shows up in ways such as:

1. Top priority on material improvements that will start benefiting South Vietnamese villages this year—not next year or the year after. This contrasts with other programs like the Alliance for Progress for Latin America where economic plans are supposed to be developed carefully with an eye to long-range gains.
2. U.S. willingness to prop up the Vietnamese economy in a general way, not confining aid to selected projects.
3. Use of economic aid funds for antiguerrilla and propaganda support operations, such as providing thousands of special radios and drafting surrender appeals.
4. Scattering U.S. aid personnel through the countryside to spread American assistance at the grass roots. More than 200 are now in the provinces, many of them picked more for their ability to work with natives than for any special technical skill.

The massive U.S. economic and arms assistance program, which got going after the Indochinese states became independent in 1954, totaled $2.9 billion by the end of fiscal year 1963. It amounts to about $400 million a year now, around half economic and half military, not counting the expenses of some 15,000 U.S. servicemen there.

The Johnson administration is planning some step-up in the aid effort and is urging other countries to join in. Among those supplying some assistance so far are Australia, Britain, Canada, France, West Germany, Malaysia, New Zealand and South Korea.

Would Stop Paying Fees for Hoffa

WASHINGTON (AP)—A member of the Teamsters Union's executive board has asked that the union stop paying legal fees of the union president, James R. Hoffa, pending a high-level conference on whether the payments are a violation of federal law.

A spokesman in the New York office of John J. O'Rourke said O'Rourke made the request.

O'Rourke, fifth vice president and member of the 15-man executive board of the 1.7-million member union, sent a telegram to the Teamsters' secretary-treasurer, John F. English.

It called for a halt to any such expenditures until the full board can meet to consider the question.

O'Rourke, in the telegram, said his request was based on the advice of Edward Bennett Williams, Teamster's general counsel, that it is illegal to pay Hoffa's huge legal expenses out of union funds.

Members of the union's executive board are scattered throughout the country and it probably would take several days for them to meet if such a meeting is called.

China Ignores Romania Offer to Mediate

By HANS BENEDICT
VIENNA, AUSTRIA (AP)—Communist Romania says Red China has not replied to a Romanian proposal for a Soviet-Chinese meeting at which Romania would try to mediate their bitter dispute.

The Russians "agreed in general" with the Romanian proposal, the Romanian Communist party newspaper "Scinteia" said Sunday.

The Romanians urged the three-party meeting last month to obtain a truce in communists' internal war and to set the stage for an international conference of Communist party leaders to give the world a display of unity.

In a party statement and long analysis of the Romanian mediation effort, the newspaper appealed for a truce in the ideological dispute, saying it was "the duty of every (Communist) party to do its utmost to divert the danger of a split."

The Romanians said the Soviet-Chinese-Romanian conference should discuss and finalize an appeal to all the Communist and workers' parties "to solve controversial issues in conformity with the norms jointly established at the 1957 and '60 Moscow conferences concerning relations between the Red parties."

The Soviets also have proposed a conference of Communist parties, confident that Soviet Premier Khrushchev's views would be upheld over those of Red Chinese party Chairman Mao Tse-tung. Peking has been

Believes Money Can Purchase Happiness... at Least Many Would Like to Give It a Try

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Teen-age scholars who find it hard to buckle down to their books might take a tip from Demosthenes. That orator of ancient Greece shaved the hair off one side of his head so he'd be ashamed to be seen on the street—and thereby forced himself to study home and study.

Can money buy happiness? Psychologists say yes, to a certain extent. Income makes little difference to the very young, but a great deal of difference to those who are older.

Examples of why foreigners find our language so confusing: for, four, fore; there, their; new, knew, gu.

Quotable notable: "America was founded in rebellion, and it should continue in rebellion till every false loyalty is cast off and concern for the common well-being accepted as the single loyalty worthy of respect."—Vernon Louis Parrington.

"Thieves stole 94,974 cars in the first quarter of this year, 25 per cent more than for a similar period in 1963."

TABLE WAS ALL SET—These five tiny racoons found the table all set when W. G. "Bill" Baker of Garland, Texas, brought them home from a hunting trip. Dinner is being provided by Bell, a four-year-old black and tan hound who is expecting a family of her own at any time. Abandoned by their mother, the little coons were provided a new home in an ice chest.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE—Howard Karno of Los Angeles, who has been trying to persuade his girlfriend, Julie Lopp, a publicist for a loan company, to marry him, took a lesson from her and hung the sign at right from the top of a building across from Julie's office where she couldn't fail to see it. The surprised Julie, left, couldn't resist the plea of the sign, "Say yes Miss Julie Lopp," and said yes. No date has been set for the wedding.

Moving Van Hits Bridge and Burns

WALDRON, Ark. (AP)—A moving van crashed into a bridge rail and burned Sunday, tying up traffic on heavily-traveled U.S. 71 for 2½ hours.

The truck driver suffered slight burns on his legs. He was treated at a Waldron hospital and released, Sheriff Clyde Hawkins said. Hawkins said he did not get the man's name.

The sheriff said the Allied Van Lines truck, operated by Okay Transfer & Storage Co. of Fort Smith, skidded on wet pavement and slammed into the Fourche River Bridge eight miles south of Waldron. It caught fire immediately. The truck, trailer and 800 pounds of furniture being moved from Fort Smith to San Antonio, Tex., were destroyed.

A fire truck from Waldron finally cooled off the wreckage and wreckers pulled the truck aside. Traffic was lined up for a mile on each side of the bridge.

Defense in Ruby Case Loses Round

DALLAS (AP)—Defense lawyers today lost their efforts to get condemned slayer Jack Ruby moved from jail to a hospital for further mental tests. As a hearing began, Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown said he was denying the request.

As lawyers wrangled over whether a defense psychiatrist could read a prepared report, Judge Brown said:

"It would be a waste of time to read that because I'm going to overrule your motion."

Brown's statement came minutes after Ruby, extremely pale and obviously agitated, returned to the courtroom where he was convicted March 14 in the killing of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald.

Dr. Louis Jolyon West, the defense psychiatrist, said in advance that Ruby was "preoccupied with delusions of persecution of Jews" and "obviously psychotic."

West examined Ruby after the prisoner banged his nearly bald head against a cell wall Sunday in what Sheriff Bill Decker said was "a deliberate act."

State Free of Rain for First Time in Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arkansas found itself free of rain today for the first time in a week. But more rain was due in the northern half of the state Tuesday.

The results of the five to seven inch rainfall the state got during the past week was felt most heavily in Camden, where the Ouachita River was 10.5 feet above flood stage and still rising.

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicted the river would crest near 38 feet Wednesday. Its flood stage is 26 feet. The river is now at its highest mark at Camden since May 5, 1958, when it rose to 43.87 feet. There was no flooding in the city but the river surged into lowlands. Highway 7 south of Camden was closed.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said the middle of the week should be dry and pleasant, but showers are expected to move in again during the last half.

High temperatures Sunday were in the upper 60s and low 70s, while overnight low readings were in the upper 40s in Northwest Arkansas and in the low 60s in the east.

Rainfall during the 24 hour period ended at 6 a.m. today ranged from one half to one inch, mostly in north Arkansas.

Business Told U.S. Wants Good Relations

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson said today that times are good and there is no inherent hostility between business and government. He pledged to businessmen that the government will act with restraint and responsibility.

In return, Johnson asked for restraint from businessmen in decisions which affect the general economic well-being and responsibility in choosing to support or oppose government policies and proposals which serve all the people.

Johnson faced his largest audience of businessmen, representatives of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, in Constitution Hall. In his prepared address, he said that racial and religious discrimination costs more than $15 billion a year and unused or underused manpower costs even more.

"That is why," he said, "this administration is dedicated to lifting of the burdens which weigh down our national productivity, expansion and prosperity."

The President covered a broad sweep of domestic and foreign policy in generalities.

"As this nation can be reasonable without becoming reckless in relations with other nations," he said, "I believe this government must be more frugal without becoming less compassionate here at home."

And he told the businessmen in a speech that was friendly and laced with bits of humor that:

"Whatever else you have, you have an independent, tax-paying, light-bill-saving President."

New Fighting Breaks Out on Cyprus

By WEBB MCKINLEY

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—A hundred Greek Cypriot irregulars armed with mortars and machineguns threatened the embattled village of Ayio Theodoros today as U.N. officials sought to remove the village's 800 Turkish Cypriots.

New fighting flared this morning in the mixed Greek-Turkish village 30 miles south of Nicosia. U.N. troops tried to set up a cease-fire.

A showdown also appeared to be shaping up for control of strategic Kyrenia Pass, where Greek Cypriot forces pinned down Turkish defenders dug in around medieval St. Hilarion Castle.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Southern opponents of the civil rights bill today labeled a compromise jury trial amendment "a sop" and said they will not permit a Senate vote on it this week.

Their decision, reached at an early-morning caucus, apparently eliminated any possibility of an early test vote on the controversial measure as debate dragged into its eighth week.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., spokesman for the Southerners, said they reached "the unanimous conclusion" the amendment is "just a sop to try to make people think" sponsors of the bill have reached a "conciliatory attitude."

The compromise, sponsored by Sens. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., majority leader, and Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., the minority leader, was offered as a substitute for another jury trial amendment introduced by Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., and other Southerners.

The compromise would provide for a jury trial in any contempt action arising under the bill if the penalty involved more than 30 days in jail or more than a $300 fine.

Talmadge's amendment would provide for a jury trial in all criminal contempt cases. The Southerners' stand came as no surprise.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., called today for President Johnson to confer with congressional leaders and agree to make some changes in the civil rights bill.

Aiken, who said he wanted to support a strong measure, said the Senate he felt that the present version contains "some outstanding weaknesses."

Canadian Jailed for Stealing Car

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arthur Latulippe, 53, a native of Canada, was arraigned before U.S. Commissioner John E. Coates in Little Rock Saturday on charges of interstate transportation of a stolen car.

He was held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Latulippe was arrested Friday at Jonesboro by FBI agents and police after he tried to open a checking account at a Jonesboro bank.

The FBI said he had admitted passing worthless checks in Arkansas and 15 other states. Latulippe was using the name "Curtis Earl Jones" at the time he was arrested, the FBI said. He was arrested after a Jonesboro bank official became suspicious when Latulippe attempted to open the account with a check on an Arizona bank. The official telephoned the Arizona bank which contacted the FBI.

The FBI said Latulippe was driving a car he purchased with a worthless check in Albuquerque, N.M.

know that continued insistence on passing the bill identically as it came from the House will likely result in killing the legislation," Aiken said.

The time has come for the President to concur in changes which "will eliminate discriminations and wipe out the political implications and tinges of hypocrisy it now contains," Aiken said.

Another Republican, Sen. Gordon Allott, Colo., told his colleagues the time had come to begin thinking about imposing cloture to win passage of the bill. It takes a two-thirds vote to do this.

Allott said that seven weeks of debate were enough for all points of view to be thoroughly aired. The Senate started on the 8th week this morning, with Southern senators announcing they were prepared to continue speaking indefinitely to prevent votes.

Earlier, Southern opponents of the bill labeled a compromise jury trial amendment "a sop" and said they will not permit a Senate vote on its this week.

"What I know of opportunity and initiative and enterprise, I learned from life itself. I pledge you from your government restraint and responsibility — a hand that means only to help and never to hinder so long as the public interest is being served. I ask from you only the same — restraint in those decisions you make which affect the general economic well-being, responsibility in choosing to support or not support the policies and proposals of your government which serves all the people."

his largest business audience since moving into the White House.

East-Est trade is the main item on the agenda for the chamber's 52nd annual meeting, and the businessmen will be listening hard for any clues the President may supply on his position.

Johnson told his news conference Saturday that he welcomes all proposals for more trade with Communist countries. But he also was noncommittal about the prospect of doing more business with Russia or its eastern European allies.

Wednesday — the last day of the chamber's meeting — the businessmen will vote for an easing of U.S. trade restrictions on nonstrategic goods with the red bloc. Convention endorsement is expected.

The Johnson administration has been exploring the possibility of greater trade with certain Communist nations. Romania, for instance, has been encouraged to send a delegation here to discuss the possible sale of a synthetic rubber plant.

At the same time, the administration is trying to convince its allies that they should support the embargo Washington has decreed against Communist Cuba.

LBJ Asking $1 Billion to Fight Poverty

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson sends Congress today a plan to fight poverty in Appalachia with nearly $1 billion in federal assistance.

"It is must legislation," Johnson said in unveiling the omnibus bill at a news conference Saturday. He said that the $220 million he is asking for the next fiscal year will not affect the budget because it will be drawn from contingency funds.

Johnson has made Appalachia — a nine-state area that extends from the mountains of western Pennsylvania southward to Georgia and Alabama — a special battleground in his "war on poverty."

He made a rapid and dramatic sweep through three of the states Friday. So convinced did he become of the need for immediate action, he told reporters Saturday afternoon, he "worked through the night and the morning with other officials" to prepare the legislation.

The program is the product of a special commission headed by

White Oak State Park Is Asked

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A Nevada county delegation asked Gov. Orval E. Faubus today to encourage establishment of a state park on White Oak Lake

Undersecretary of Commerce Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr.

Here's how the nearly $1 billion would be carved up:

—$840 million to build a 2,150-mile highway system.

—$35.8 million for stepping up construction of water resources facilities.

—$10 million to build new sewer and water systems.

—$22 million in federal grants for pasture improvement.

—$6.7 million in technical assistance for timber management marketing and manufacture.

—$3 million for expanded coal research.

—$71 million earmarked for the antipoverty program headed by Sargent Shriver.

in Southwest Arkansas.

County Judge Mack Hillery said the park area would be 25 miles east of Prescott on land already belonging to the state.

White Oak Lake was built by the Game and Fish Commission. Several state parks have been established on game and fish lakes in recent years.

Faubus met with the group and took the request under advisement.

On Tuesday night, April 21 the Leslie Huddleston Unit 12 of the American Legion Auxiliary met in the home of Mrs. E. P. O'Neal with Mrs. Charles as co-hostess.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cartwrights rode right off the Ponderosa into new territory Sunday night. NBC's "Bonanza" told a story about Negro discrimination.

The Ladies' Culture Society of old Virginia City planned a charity concert to help the starving Putes and hired the world-famous singer, Thomas Bowers, to perform. When the world-famous singer arrives on the stagecoach, he turns out to be a Negro.

The shocked president of the Ladies' Culture Society is rude to him; the local hotel clerk won't rent him a room. A bully bartender won't serve him and insultingly calls him boy.

Fortunately, Hoss Cartwright happens to be around. With the beginnings of a lynch mob in pursuit, Hoss takes Bowers to the family ranch. There's a suspicion that he's a runaway slave accused of murder, so the singer winds up in jail. Word clearing him comes in the nick of time.

Bowers sings at the concert in spite of the bad treatment and, receives a standing ovation from all present—including the society president—as the bad bully and his followers sink off.

The simple, uncomplicated black-and-white nature of the classic Western make it an effective vehicle for a morality tale. The "Bonanza" episode made just one point: that a man should not be judged by the color of his skin.

"Time for Elizabeth" was a little comedy that Groucho Marx co-authored around 1948 and has played in road tours and summer stock from time to time. It turned up again Friday night on NBC's Bob Hope Theatre looking its age.

DOROTHY DIX

—HOW I MEET, ETC.

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

Dear Dr. Brothers: My husband has been in the armed services for several years; stations in Japan. When he returned I couldn't help but notice his change in behavior in our marital relations. He often mentions Japanese customs, and the charm of the country's women, who, he explains to me, approach relations as not something for both to enjoy, but for the woman to please the man. My main concern is how I can make my husband happy. I just don't want him comparing me with these Orientals, and coming up second-best. —A. M.

Dear A. M.: Since World War II, many young wives have been faced with this problem. Servicemen have been traveling widely and they meet with new cultures and customs that appear to them through novelty. Then they come home and their wives find themselves compared secretly or openly with the ritual dancers of Upper Cambodia or where have you?

This entente between our overseas servicemen and the local young women is immoral, but it is also human and can be understood psychologically. Our typical American male, serviceman or not, is intrigued by girls. His curiosity is attracted by the young ladies of the country he is visiting.

I'd say perhaps a good 80 per cent of our overseas adventures are begun not by immorality but by sheer curiosity. A man is as intrigued by a foreign girl as by a foreign car.

Word-Of-Mouth Reports

Hearsay stories greatly add to this instinctive curiosity of both men and women. The idea that the unfamiliar is more fascinating holds true all around the world. For example, Chinese girls privately hold that the world's best lovers without exception is the American man. Among other Orientals, there is a great and undecided competition for the title. Currently, the Hindu is leading.

Now, I'd like to set your mind at ease for a moment by telling you that your husband's views of the Japanese girl is an out-and-out picture of the trained Geisha, whose role is not to act as a full partner to the male, but solely to please him. So, his information comes from the nightspot group, whose professional aim is to please men, much as a saleslady would a shopper in a perfume store. The modern, largely Westernized Japanese girl has a freedom of emotion, expression, and choice. Her relationships with a mate are mutual and decidedly

Faubus Lines Up Support for Campaign

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus returned from a weekend fishing trip today and immediately began lining up support for his re-election candidacy.

Faubus met with some labor leaders, whom he did not identify, this morning and said later that it was only the first of a series of meetings he will hold. "Labor is one of the mainstays of Democratic support," Faubus said at a news conference. "If I get the nomination they can be useful in the general election."

Faubus has got good support from labor's rank and file through the years, although he has not always been on the closest of terms with union leaders.

He was asked what labor can expect in return for its support, and he remarked that he always has worked well with the unions.

"You remember I endorsed the minimum wage in the 1960 general election," he said. "An initiated minimum wage act was defeated that year."

Reason Not Same for Observance

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Alabama state employees have a holiday today, but the reason for celebrating is doubtful for some.

The official reason for the holiday is Confederate Memorial Day, which fell on Sunday. The workers were given today off instead.

Catholics Told to Integrate

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Catholic schools in the Mobile-Birmingham diocese have been ordered integrated next fall.

The archbishop of the diocese ordered the integration in a letter read Sunday in Masses of all churches in the diocese, made up by the state of Alabama and northwest Florida. There are approximately 25,000 pupils in about 80 elementary schools and 13 high schools in the diocese.

Brandon and Everett Tucker Jr. have filed for the position.

China to Face Major Crises of Leadership

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communist China faces at least two major crises of leadership in the next 10 or 15 years as aging rulers relinquish power to younger men, according to U.S. intelligence studies on once-secret Chinese military documents.

U.S. officials believe the changes that will come about in these crises may profoundly alter Red China's attitude toward the outside world, including the United States.

Two other points which stand out in the intelligence reports are: 1. Red China under the leadership of Mao Tse-tung is following a strategy of state-mate toward the United States while it concentrates on promoting Red revolutionary movements in underdeveloped countries, particularly in Africa.

2. The Chinese Reds are devoting considerable resources to a program for developing atomic weapons though one of their military leaders estimated in January 1961 that they got into a big war three to five years from then they would still have to rely on conventional weapons. Meanwhile, the Communist party leaders take the position, according to one of the previously secret documents, that "although the material atomic bomb is important, the spiritual atomic bomb is more important"—apparently a statement of faith in their own Communist world view.

The documents make clear that the Red Chinese leaders believe they cannot be defeated by long-range nuclear weapons—such as U.S. missiles—and if they were invaded they would rely on their vast military manpower. One estimate is that in April 1961 there were supposed to be 200 million armed and organized militiamen.

These conclusions and estimates about Red Chinese policy and strength are set forth in research studies prepared for the State Department's Bureau of Intelligence and Research and based on military papers dealing with both military and political issues which were circulated in Red China in 1961.

In testimony released today, Thomas L. Hughes, State Department intelligence chief, told a House Appropriations subcommittee that "the new materials gave us a look at the dark side of the moon in Communist China."

Hughes also described the documents—obtained in an undisclosed manner—as "uniquely valuable" to the United States in assessing Chinese Communist strategy and tactics and in shaping U.S. foreign policy.

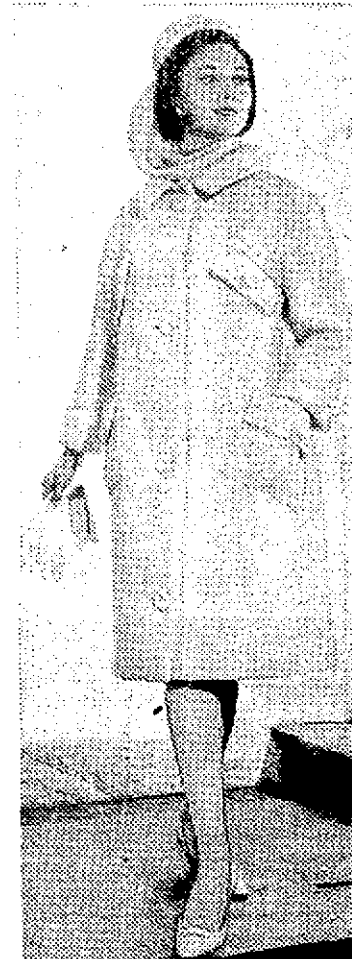

The Red Chinese secret papers were analyzed by various Chinese language experts. They were also declassified last year and were made available to scholars through the Library of Congress. They are still being translated.

In connection with Hughes' report that special studies had been made on them, The Associated Press obtained from the State Department two studies—one by Ralph L. Powell of American University and one by John Wilson Lewis of Cornell University. Both men are experts on Communist Chinese affairs.

In their separate reports to the State Department both developed the theory of crises in the Chinese Communist leadership in some detail.

Powell expressed the view that though at some moment of future crisis the military in China might have the possibility of seizing power for itself such a development was unlikely and without precedent in the Communist movement. The military will more likely play "the role of kingmakers," he said.

He advanced the thesis that Mao Tse-tung, who is 70, "will be replaced by death or retirement within less than a decade."

"But the whole top leadership of the party is an aging group," he said. "In 10 years even the surviving alternate members of the present (Communist party) central committee will average about 65 years. Thus during the next decade or a slightly longer period, the party and the regime will face not one, but two

Wants Plant Site Reconsidered

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — The president of a Conway firm has asked the Green Bay (Wis.) Packaging Co. to consider the sentiment of people in the on-way area before making plans to locate a paper mill 20 miles from Conway.

J. P. (Pat) Stolz, president of Metal Stamping Co., and president of the manufacturers committee of the Conway Chamber of Commerce, made the request in a telegram to the Wisconsin firm.

Morrilton interests have been negotiating with the Green Bay company to locate a $20 million plant on the Conway-Faulkner County line about 12 miles southeast of Morrilton. The firm would employ 300 persons.

Packaging firm officials say the site in one of several being considered.

Johnson to Expand His Briefings

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is reported considering expanding his proposed foreign policy briefings of presidential aspirants to include nominees for the House and Senate.

Johnson has offered to have the Central Intelligence Agency and the Defense and State departments background all generally mentioned presidential nomination possibilities on what course the United States is following and what actions it is taking on various world problems.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., a leading candidate for the GOP presidential nomination rejected this out of hand. Some others have accepted, including New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller. But Rockefeller said he would accept only with the understanding that the briefings would not tie his hands in future public debate on foreign policy and national security.

Goldwater called Johnson's offer "an offhand political gesture" and said it was basically unwise to provide this information to any other than the actual presidential nominee.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., chairman of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee, said there had been discussion of making such briefings available for senatorial and House nominees.

Presumably this information would be similar to the "full account of the existing international situation" which Secretary of State Dean Rusk said would be given to presidential aspirants who desire it.

Magnuson said he thinks it would be practical to bring senatorial nominees of both parties to Washington to brief them in an effort to eliminate misunderstandings during the campaign about the country's foreign policy course.

Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., head of the Republican senatorial campaign committee, said in a separate interview he thinks any such program would present a lot of difficulties, especially if all of the 435 nominees for House seats should elect to attend such briefings.

Morton indicated he thinks some Republican senatorial candidates would hesitate to accept background information they might feel would tend to hamper full discussion of foreign policy in the campaign.

Johnson has expressed the hope that foreign policy will not become the major issue between the parties in the November crises of leadership—the death of Mao and the death of his successor.

Lewis related this situation to "tensions" between the present aging leadership in China and the younger generation of party members whose differing views on policy have been suppressed under the present rules. Lewis estimated that "a group fully identified with the revolutionary elite and its strategies and techniques could carry on, for at least another 10 to 15 years."

He concluded therefore that "a sharp break in the revolutionary traditions of Mao's inner circle in the (Communist party) political bureau is not probable for five or 10 years."

"I don't find that simple at all," Malcolm said. He sighed and took the lapels of Zarran's coat in his hands. "You're not to leave," he said, staring into his eyes. "Do you understand? You're my prisoner."

"Don't make me hurt you."

"What's the difference between you being my prisoner or my being yours? I'd like to understand that."

campaign. Republicans have reached the general conclusion, however, that the President is weakest in this field and many of them want to be free to voice wide-ranging criticism of the President's handling of international matters.

A Choice of Assassins

THE STORY: Malcolm has time to reflect as he is kept as Domingo's "guest" at the Pensión Royale in Cartama, Spain. He is guarded by Zarran, one of Domingo's associates.

XIII

The maid who came to inquire about Malcolm's lunch was so confused by his appearance that she could only goggle at him in silence. At last she accepted the situation with a smile, and her cheeks became pink with pleasure as Malcolm looked courteously at the luncheon menu.

He decided on soup, and a steak, with fruit and cheese and coffee, and he asked the smiling girl if she would bring this to him in about an hour, for he had decided to take a walk before lunch.

Malcolm slung the Leica about his neck, put on his sunglasses and went down to the lobby. Zarran rose and moved quickly between him and the door which opened on the street.

"You can't go out. You know that. Domingo wants you to stay in your room."

Malcolm looked across Zarran's bald head at the sunlight slanting in a single golden bar through the doorway, and observed how it seemed to chase the shadows into the corners of the small lobby. He frowned absently and set the timer of the Leica at one-fiftieth.

"I thought I'd take some pictures," he said.

"I don't like any of this," Zarran said. He seemed embarrassed by Malcolm's manner. "But I do what Domingo tells me to do. You cannot go out."

Malcolm looked at him with a thoughtful smile. "You have a gun?"

"Don't be a fool." "I'm curious about what you're going to do. I suppose you'll knock me down. The women in the kitchen will scream for the police. What will you tell them? That you didn't want me to take pictures?"

Zarran looked uncomfortable. "Be sensible. I told you I didn't like this business."

"Why do you do something you don't like?" "There are things I need. To get them I do other things. It's that simple."

"I don't find that simple at all," Malcolm said. He sighed and took the lapels of Zarran's coat in his hands. "You're not to leave," he said, staring into his eyes. "Do you understand? You're my prisoner."

"Don't make me hurt you."

"What's the difference between you being my prisoner or my being yours? I'd like to understand that."

campaign. Republicans have reached the general conclusion, however, that the President is weakest in this field and many of them want to be free to voice wide-ranging criticism of the President's handling of international matters.

Zarran dipped a hand into his pocket and removed a clasp knife, the blade of which leaped out like the tongue of a snake at the pressure of his thumb. "There's the difference," he said softly and put the tip of the blade against Malcolm's stomach. "Now go back to your room."

Malcolm laughed and leaned his weight against the point of the knife. "Go ahead, a twist of your hand will do it," he said. "Instead of taking pictures, I'll bleed to death."

Malcolm removed his sunglasses and looked into Zarran's troubled eyes. "Just hold your wrist steady," he said quietly. "I'll do the job for you."

But Zarran pulled the tip of the blade quickly from Malcolm's stomach and ran his tongue about his dry lips.

"You are crazy," he said in a thick, helpless voice. "It's not worth killing you for."

"You are beginning to understand," Malcolm said.

He replaced his sunglasses and walked past Zarran, who turned slowly and stared after him with the haggard expression of a man who had just been unaccountably jarred by the weight of a shadow.

The terrace of the bar wasn't crowded at this hour. Tani sat alone sipping a glass of wine. The three young Americans who had been preparing to leave when Malcolm arrived, exchanged glances and ordered more coffee. Several elderly Spaniards played dominoes with deliberate care, and at another table were two young Germans in leather shorts and white shirts, decorated with bold red trim at the collar and cuffs.

When they noticed Malcolm sitting alone at the far end of the terrace, their manner became attentive and serious; after studying his quiet profile for a moment, the young Germans exchanged understanding glances and nodded slowly, as if they had reached a silent judgment on him.

Malcolm's motionless figure created a noticeable tension and embarrassment among the groups on the terrace.

Tani watched Malcolm covertly, hoping to catch his eye; she wanted to talk to him, but there was something in his steady, expressionless contemplation of the mountains which made her afraid to join him without invitation.

Hog Defense Still Ahead of Offense

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas football coach Frank Broyles said the defense was still ahead of the offense after watching the Razorbacks in an 1½-hour scrimmage here Saturday.

The Red team beat the White 14-6. The Red team is made up of the No. 1 offensive and defensive units and the White comes from both No. 2 units.

The Razorbacks have eight sessions left in spring practice. They will be idle until the Wednesday - through - Saturday practice schedule is resumed.

Two Razorbacks got minor injuries at the scrimmage. Center Travis Mauldin had a pinched nerve and tailback Jack Brasuell was stunned twice.

Many players missed the scrimmage because of earlier injuries, but trainer Bill Ferrell said perhaps six would return for the Wednesday session.

He said quarterback Ronnie South, who suffered a shoulder separation in Friday's session, would miss the rest of spring practice.

In the scrimmage, quarterback Fred Marshall passed to end Tommy Burnett in a 44-yard scoring play. Marshall ran the extra point, putting the Red team ahead 8-0.

The White squad scored when fullback Mike Jordan picked off a Marshall pass and ran 62 yards for the score. A pass play for the extra point failed.

Burnett got the second Red score on a seven - yard pass from quarterback Billy Gray.

In Broyles' praise of the defense, he singled out the White defensive backs as the "stars of the scrimmage."

Defensive backs for the Whites were Marline Bercher, Stu Berryhill, Jack London and Mike Jordan. Broyles also praised the work of Gray and fullback Tommy Sain.

The Razorbacks hold their first Red-White game Saturday at Fayetteville. The Red-White game at Little Rock which winds up the spring practice is the following Saturday.

Calls Grand Jury at Hot Springs

AT HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — U.S. District Judge John E. Miller has called a federal grand jury to meet here Wednesday.

It was the third grand jury call by Miller in the past eight months, but this session is not considered irregular.

It was not known what the jury would investigate.

Circuit Judge P. E. Dobbs has the Garland County Grand Jury in session. Its committees have been meeting, and it was expected to begin calling witnesses today.

U.S. Team Finally Beat Reds

LENINGRAD (AP)—The U.S. basketball image, shaken somewhat when Russian teams won three straight games from a touring American squad last week, appeared brighter today. The traveling AAU team, bolstered by five Olympic cagers, ended its tailspin Sunday by trimming an All-Leningrad quintet 74-65.

Jim Barnes of Texas Western, only collegian among the Olympic team members on the Soviet tour, scored 20 points Sunday to pace the U.S. comeback. The other Olympians are Larry Brown, Dick Davies, Pete McCaffrey and Jerry Shipp, all AAU standouts.

The Americans dropped two straight to the Russian national team at Moscow and were beaten here Saturday night. A U.S. team had never been beaten before in Russia.

Ortega Comes Through for Hurt Dodgers

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer
After pitching himself out of a permanent job with the Los Angeles Dodgers for four years, Phil Ortega has hurdled himself into Manager Walter Alston's heart in about 10 hours.

The 24-year-old right-hander, starting in place of the injured Sandy Koufax, stymied Milwaukee 1-0 on four hits Sunday as the depleted Dodgers on only their third game in 12 starts. The victory, Ortega's first in the major leagues came at a most propitious time.

This is the fifth season Ortega has had a trial with the Dodgers. Even in the minors he hasn't risen to the expectations others had for him when Los Angeles signed him out of a Mesa, Ariz., high school for a reported $60,000 bonus in 1959.

But no, his 1.20 earned run average is the best the Dodgers have. Before his shutout, he had pitched 6 2-3 innings in relief.

Elsewhere in the National League Sunday, Philadelphia whipped Chicago 5-1. Houston swept past St. Louis 6-4 and set St. Louis 4 and Pittsburgh and New York split a doubleheader, the Pirates in the first 4-3 and losing the nightcap 3-2. San Francisco and Cincinnati were rained out of a doubleheader.

In the American League action, New York nipped Baltimore 5-4, Chicago edged Boston 2 in 11 innings, Washington stopped Kansas City 7-4 and Los Angeles blanked Cleveland 7-0.

Ortega, a 6-foot-2, 175-pounder, struck out three and walked only one after the Dodgers gave him a run in the first inning. He was in trouble just once—when Lee Maye tripled in the fourth. However, third baseman John Werhas grabbed Joe Torre's grounder and nailed Maye at the plate.

Philadelphia got three home runs plus seven innings of tight pitching from Ray Culp before he tired. Tony Taylor and Gus Triandos socked solo homers while Bobby Wine unloaded a three-run blast in the sixth.

St. Louis played its game with Houston under protest. That action stemmed from an unusual inning-ending double play in the eighth when the Colts scored to runs.

Mike White scored on Rusty Staub's fly ball, but Bob Aspromonte as ruled out for leaving second before the catch. Manager Johnny Keane contended White's run shouldn't count. Aspromonte had singled home what turned out to be the winning run earlier in the inning.

Ron Hunt and Tim Lincecum rallied the Mets after they threw away the first game. Hunt scored all three runs after he singled, double and tripled. Harkness sent him home to of those times with singles.

The Pirates on the opener added single in the ninth. Errors by Al Moran and John Stephenson and a walk to Bill Virdon had filled the bases.

Fayetteville Asks Integration

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Community Concern on Equality, a Fayetteville Negro organization, has asked the Fayetteville school board to close the only remaining segregated school here at the end of the 1964 fall semester.

The organization made the request in the form of a resolution which was mailed to school board Chairman Henry Shreve.

The Fayetteville Junior Chamber of Commerce adopted a similar resolution last December.

Fayetteville was one of the first cities in the state to integrate its school system. Five Negroes were enrolled at Fayetteville High School in 1954.

The schedule of Solunar period shown in regular type, are of somewhat shorter duration.

The Major periods are shown in bold face type. These begin at the time shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours thereafter. The minor periods as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times. SIDE GLANCES—Hitting the dirt on Florida diamonds brings out a variety of reactions on the expressive faces of, left to right: Willie Mays of the Giants, Joe Pepitone of the Yanks, Lenny Green of the Twins, Bob Allison of the Twins and Ron Fairly of the Dodgers.

FLY BOY—John Pannel, the only man ever to clear 17 feet in the pole vault, could do no better than 16 ft., 4 1/4 in. at the Los Angeles invitational indoor track and field meet. The two poles he regularly uses for his soaring performances were misplaced while he was flying to California and Pannel had to resort to a substitute.

WHO NOSE?—From his gesture, big Frank Howard of the Los Angeles Dodgers, who hits a mile when he connects squarely, seems to be explaining that he intends to hit the ball right on the nose this season.

SIGN OF SPRING—Either the circus or the crocus—it's a sign of spring. New York's Madison Square Garden has welcomed the 94th edition of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus and Miss Chrys, billed as "Hairial Hairlifter," is one of the scariest acts.

Yanks Reach 500 Mark and Chisox Win

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer
It's a long way in from the bullpen at Chicago's Comiskey Park. Plenty of time for a relief pitcher to size up the situation. And you can bet young Frank Kreutzler was doing some fancy sizing up when White Sox Manager Al Lopez waved him into his fourth big league game.

Lopez renowned for his hand ling of pitchers, picked a quite a spot for the rookie left-hander in Sunday's game against Boston. The Red Sox were leading 1-0 in the second inning and the bases were loaded with one out. All Kreutzler had to worry about was the defending American League batting champ, Carl Yastrzemski, who was the next batter, and the league's leading hitter, Frank Malzone, who was on deck. You could forgive Lopez if he shuddered just a bit.

But the youngster didn't cringe. He fanned Yastrzemski and got Malzone on a grounder. End of threat and start of 5 2-3 innings of airtight relief.

Kreutzler, who won his first big league game, allowed just three hits before leaving for a pinch hitter in the seventh. He fanned four.

Elsewhere in the American League, the struggling Yankees finally reached the .500 level with a 5-4 victory over Baltimore; Minnesota nipped Detroit 3-2 in 11 innings; Los Angeles snapped a five game Cleveland winning streak 7-0 and Washington downed Kansas City 7-4.

In the National League, Los Angeles edged Milwaukee 1-0; Houston whipped St. Louis 6-1; Philadelphia whacked Chicago 5-1 and New York and Pittsburgh split a doubleheader with the Pirates taking the opener 4-3 and the Mets winning the nightcap 3-2. The Giants and the Reds had a doubleheader postponed in Cincinnati because of rain.

The Yankees evened their record on three unearned runs, the final on coming when catcher John Orsino let a Harvey Haddix knuckler get by for a passed ball in the eighth inning. Hal Reniff was the winner in relief of Whitey Ford.

Jerry Lumpe's wild throw with the bases loaded and two out in the 11th inning gave Minnesota its victory. Jim Kaat went the distance to win it. Bob Allison and Jimmie Hall homered for the Twins.

Don Zimmer crashed two home runs and Bill Skowron socked another as Washington built an early lead against Kansas City. Rocky Colavito, Jim Gentile and Manny Jimenez homered for the Athletics.

Fred Newman, who had been sidelined for a month with infected tonsils, blanked the Indians in his first start. Ten Salasano slapped three of 12 Angel hits and drove in three runs as Los Angeles handed Cleveland

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD, (AP) - Fifteen years ago, Fox studios let Richard Crenna's option lapse because he "wasn't leading man material."

Did the young actor fret over it at all? Not for a minute.

"They were absolutely right," he now reasons. "I had a hunch nothing would happen to me in movies until I was 35. I photographed too young, and there aren't many good parts for young men. Anyway, female stars don't like to play opposite someone who looks like a kid."

The kicker to the story is that Dick Crenna is now back at Fox playing the title role in "John Goldfarb, Please Come Home!" opposite Shirley MacLaine.

Crenna is now 37, which makes him two years late on his prediction. He might have made it sooner, but he's been busy.

Matter of fact, he's been busy since age 11. That's when he started as a radio actor, and one of the series he performed on was "Our Miss Brooks."

When the show converted to television, Dick had just been dropped by Fox and he signed on.

He played the daffy high school student for four profitable years, finally graduating at age 27.

Were the studios ready for him then? Obviously not. So he signed on for six years as Luke in "The Real McCoys." He emerged a rich, unburied man.

"When the show was over, I didn't even want to do guest shots, although I finally did one. I started directing some Andy Griffith shows, which I found very gratifying. And I just waited."

Dick turned down 25 or 30 proposals for comedy series before committing himself to an hour drama out of the Bing Crosby stable, "Slattery's People." He plays the minority leader in a legislature, representing an untested party in an unspecified state. CBS snapped it up.

Then Fox started romancing. "You know those things happen," Dick said realistically. "A studio starts out casting by asking: Jack Lemmon, Rock Hudson and 10 other big stars. They're unavailable, so the studio keeps going down the list of actors. Finally they came to me."

CBS let him show the "Slattery's People" plot to Director W. Lee Thompson, who was impressed. But the acid test was Shirley MacLaine's reaction. She was flitting about Africa or someplace, and Dick's deadline for starting the series was approaching.

Shirley finally returned, saw the film and flipped. CBS and Crosby kindly consented to set back the starting date of the series, so Dick found himself back at his onetime alma mater playing a Jewish U2 pilot who crash-lands in an Arab Kingdom. Lee Thompson, who was

Critical of State Plant Financing

By JOHN R. STARR
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Sam D. Watson tweaked the tail of a sacred cow when he criticized Arkansas' industry-financing Amendment 49.

Watson, a bond broker who is thinking about running for Gov. ernor, said it is too easy for cities and counties to get into a financial trap under the amendment which permits levying of a five-mill tax to support industry.

His comments brought a quick retort from Gov. Orval E. Faubus and a vigorous defense of the amendment from the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission.

Faubus was asked how he would react if Watson becomes a candidate against him and raises the Amendment 49 issue as he has promised to.

"I think he (Watson) would be on the unpopular side," Faubus snapped. "Of course there's some slight risk involved. There always is when you're after something worthwhile."

Watson cited collapse of the Chase-Grocer Rubber Co. at El Dorado. Failure of the firm left Union County holding a $3 million bag. About $2 million of it involved Amendment 49 bonds.

Richard Duvall, assistant director of the AIDC, said that Chase-Grocer is the only Amendment 49 plant to go under.

"And you couldn't call it an outright loss," he said. "The county still has the plant. It can be leased to another industry and it's quite possible that all of the potential loss can be recouped."

Duvall said amendment 49 is an integral part of the state's industrial financing law. "It's one of the main reasons that we have been successful in getting small industries in small towns," he said.

Then he added, "Naturally some mistakes will be made. But we (AIDC) counsel with these towns about the credit rating of these firms and we take all possible precautions."

Amendment 49 is no longer the foundation of industrial financing in Arkansas. It has been replaced by Act 9 of 1960 as the most-used measure. Act 9 has the advantage of not requiring a tax even if the company fails.

But only blue-chip companies—practically only those who could afford to build their plants without bonds—can qualify for Act 9 help. Under Act 9 the credit rating of the company is the main security for the bonds.

So when the firm's credit can't support a large bond issue, the developers turn to Amendment 49 which invokes the taxing power of the county and city to support the bonds.

In most cases, however, no tax is levied. Plant rentals pay off the bonds without it. But the tax is their, approved by the voters at the same time the bond issue was approved. In case rentals don't retire the bonds.

Amendment 49 was approved by voters in the 1958 general election. Until then Act 404 of 1955, which authorized establishment of local industrial development agencies which could issue bonds was the main financing law.

The AIDC said other industry-oriented state agencies are looking now for a financing law to supplement Act 404, Amendment 49 and Act 9. They say the state needs a means of financing small industries in cities or counties where the assessed valuation won't support a bond issue of the size needed to build a plant.

There also is a problem in areas where one set of bonds has been issued under Amendment 49 and there is a chance to get another industry. Since a maximum of five mills in taxes can be pledged, the second industry can't get any help if five mills were allotted to the first bonds, even though none of the tax is being collected.

The First Arkansas Development Finance Corp., founded in 1958, is helping some in these areas, but its funds are limited and most of its money is already committed.

First Arkansas is a private, non-profit company with assets of about $3 million. Part of the money was put up by utilities and part is a loan from the state.

Wash Fruits and Vegetables

Pesticides are a boon to man and have saved thousands of lives and prevented millions of illnesses, says the Agriculture Department. But they are also dangerous if used indiscriminately. Improper spraying has brought death to fish, birds, wildlife and people. In case of accidental contact with pest-killing poison, the skin should be washed immediately with soap and water. Eyes hit by spray require flushing with water for 15 minutes. If poison is taken internally, use the antidotes listed on the container. And call a doctor.

Read Label, Follow Directions

Pesticides are made to kill specific weeds and insects. Use the right one in the prescribed quantity.

Use Spray Properly

Don't spray aimlessly. Only those plants affected by parasites should be sprayed. Be careful. Lawn and flowers could be damaged.

Wear Gloves, Protect Hands

Your hands are not tough enough to withstand the poisonous assault of a pesticide. Protect them. And remove sprayed clothing immediately.

Don't Spray When Pets Are Loose

Cats and dogs may be affected—sometimes fatally—by pesticides. Keep pets indoors when you spray.

Keep Pesticides From Children

Children can get their hands into anything—including pesticides. Keep your weed-killers in locked cabinets.

Wash Fruits and Vegetables

Even though most fruits and vegetables are free of poisonous residue, you should wash them thoroughly before eating.

Jury Trial Amendment May Pass

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate's Democratic and Republican leaders teamed up today to introduce a jury trial amendment to the civil rights bill in a partial concession to Southern opponents of the measure.

The amendment is similar to a compromise written into the 1957 Civil Rights Act but goes somewhat farther in meeting the demands of the Dixie forces for jury trials in criminal contempt cases arising out of injunctions against racial discrimination.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois introduced it for himself and Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Democratic leader.

Although President Johnson has called on the Senate to pass the House bill without change, Dirksen indicated the amendment providing a limited right to jury trials had the blessing of the Justice Department.

The efforts to resolve the jury trial issue were only part of the moves afoot to work out compromises and get the civil rights bill off dead center.

But growing signs of optimism were evident, and were noted by the bipartisan floor managers for the bill—Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., and Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif.

The suit, filed Wednesday in U.S. District Court, contended their "conduct and department" during and after the filming lessened the commercial value of the picture.

A spokesman for the couple, now in New York while Burton appears in "Hamlet," termed the action "an absolutely ludicrous move on Fox's part, and we'll let them do the talking."

Miss Taylor and Burton are married. During the filming of "Cleopatra" she was married to Eddie Fisher and he to Sybil Burton.
